For students who enjoy literature, arts, and expression, our Language Arts Bundle gives them a challenging yet highly interactive, project-based program that expands knowledge of and excitement for the arts, develops skills in critical thinking, writing, and public speaking, and boosts creativity and teamwork. In a lively, cooperative environment, students read thought-provoking books, interpret them through discussion and writing, and create and present creative group projects that express their findings. With a greater emphasis on public speaking than our younger age classes, this program offers three sessions, each exploring a different topic and culminating in a unique, final presentation. Full of creative interaction and personal expression, this program gives students an energizing space to advance the comprehension and analytical skills needed for the rigorous English classes of high school.
